Installation of Ings Products:

All body kits and products sold by Ings are considered custom parts. Due to the material and processes used in production, the body kits may not be direct bolt-on. These body kits may require prepping, sanding, shaving, filling gaps, or other extensive body work. These modifications may include removal or cutting of the reinforcement bars. We HIGHLY recommend that a professional body shop with fiberglass body kit experience perform the installation. Auto shops experienced in OEM installations may not be experienced in AFTERMARKET FIBERGLASS INSTALLATIONS. Refunds will not be issued due to poor fitment of the body kit. If fitment is off by extreme margins, a refund will be considered.

All kits sold by Ings (USA), Inc. are for off-road and show purposes only. We do not recommend, and in fact discourage, these parts to be used on public streets.

By agreeing to these Terms and Conditions the customer understands the procedure and possible difficulty of installing aftermarket parts.
